Barko announces TraxPlus as new dealer

SUPERIOR, Wisc. — Barko Hydraulics, LLC is proud to announce TraxPlus as its new dealer for logging and land clearing equipment in Mississippi.

“TraxPlus is a wonderful addition to our dealer network,” said Alecia McKay-Jones, dealer development manager for Barko. “They have a strong background in forestry equipment and a reputation of striving for excellent customer service.”

Based in Hickory, Mississippi, TraxPlus will handle sales and service of Barko loaders, industrial wheeled tractors, harvesters and feller bunchers. The dealership was established in 2013 after several years of part-time equipment sales and a family history of logging came together.

“We’re excited to represent the Barko brand,” said Micah Harmon, vice president of TraxPlus. “Anyone that knows forestry knows Barko. It’s a name we’re proud to put our name behind with the company’s history, reputation, and tradition.”

Barko Hydraulics, LLC is part of the Pettibone, LLC Heavy Equipment Group. Founded in 1963, Barko has consistently led the industry with innovative solutions to the forestry, scrap and construction markets, including industrial tractors, crawlers, handlers, loaders, forwarders, chippers and harvesters.
